GROTON OLDE HOME DAYS

GROTON OLDE HOME DAYS

August 21, 22 & 23, 2025

HONORING OUR PAST • CELEBRATING OUR PRESENT
ANTICIPATING OUR FUTURE

Within these walls, our dad, Phil, instilled in his children the cherished values of community service and of conducting a reputable, small-town business, focusing intently on the need of his neighbors.

The Shurtleff family continues to provide such personal, reliable and well-established service to the area communities through the Shurtleff Funeral Homes located in Genoa and Groton.

At the Shurtleff Funeral Home, it is our purpose to celebrate and honor the legacies of not just our neighbors, but of all those we are called upon and privileged to serve.

Constructed circa 1895 and known then as the “Goodyear Block,” the brick building at 115 Main Street, Groton, has been inhabited by numerous enterprises over the past century and a quarter.

Dr. Miles D. Goodyear, the original owner, was a noted local physician. His family also owned adjacent properties, including the Groton Hotel. When Dr. Goodyear passed away in 1913, he bequeathed $13,000 (that’s over $400,000 in today’s dollars) to fund construction of the Goodyear Memorial Library (now the Groton Public Library) in honor of his mother.

In addition to the Post Office, occupants in the 20th century included the law offices of Stoddard & Chatterton, a variety store, Kostenbader’s Jewelry and Optometry, Walt Hoerger’s Photography Studio, and the Booth Company Furniture Store. It was also the original home of the Robert C. Dempsey Insurance.

The Groton Town Historical Association first located here in the early 1970’s, prior to making its home at the “Old Baptist Meeting House,” just down the street.

AND for over 30 years, Phil Shurtleff operated NEA Realty of Groton at this location, where from the front steps he routinely acknowledged passers-by with his familiar greeting of “hey neighbor!”

Today, Doug Houck is redeveloping the space for his musical endeavors with “Leisure Studios.”
